Council Announces Positions On Area Transportation Plans

In preparation for a public hearing scheduled for the Fine Arts Theater at the University of Maryland on Saturday, June 16, at 12 noon, city council adopted at its June 11 meeting a series of positions on the various alternatives being considered by the Western Prince Georges Transportation Alternatives Study Group. These positions followed the recommendations of the city's two advisory groups — the Advisory Planning Board and the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board.

The first major recommendation concerned the location of the METRO station. The council recommended that it be located at the B&O railroad right-of-way immediately south of Greenbelt Road. It opposed the location of the METRO station at the Beltway for two reasons: (1) possible impact on the Springhill Lake community if Cherrywood Lane were to be used as access to such a station; and (2) the development of such a station would result in the taking of land in the Springhill Lake industrial tract, causing an adverse effect on the city's future tax base.

The second major recommendation concerned the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. Council recommended that widening of the Parkway be limited to two additional lanes between the District of Columbia and the Capital Beltway (I-495). Use of these two additional lanes, they stated, should be limited to commuter buses and car pools. Council opposed widening north of the Beltway. Council also favored the present prohibition of truck traffic on the Parkway and reiterated its opposition to deletion of the BW Parkway-Greenbelt Road (Md. 193) interchange.

In other recommendations, council supported the construction of a grade separation interchange at Greenbelt Road and Kenilworth Ave., plans for improved commuter bus services and commuter rail services, and proposed bikeway systems, particularly that leg running east and west of the intersection of Greenbelt Road and the BW Parkway, west along Greenbelt Road and continuing through Berwyn Heights to the University of Maryland.

Tennis Courts

Council approved a $50,000 project for the improvement of the Braden Field tennis courts, the cost to be funded through State open-space grants and park development funds allocated under the bond issue. Included in the project is the lighting of four existing courts and the lighting and construction of 4 new courts. Council made plain that it will proceed with the $9,000 lighting of the four existing courts, regardless of the city's success with getting State open-space grant money. However, tennis enthusiasts were asked to bear in mind that Pepco has informed the city that it has a three month's backlog in providing electrical service.

Other Action

Council adopted a charter amendment changing the final date for adoption of the budget from June 10 to June 20 so as to permit council to take into consideration county budgetary decisions. Another charter amendment adopted calls for increasing the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $2,400 per year and other members of council from $1,500 to $2,000 per year, effective with the election of a new council in September. Both charter changes become effective fifty days from date of passage unless petitioned to referendum.

Council agreed to enter into a contract with the architectural firm of Cohen and Haft for the design of the Springhill Lake Recreation Center Building. The firm's fee will be a flat sum of $23,000.

Council also agreed to hold special voter registrations on Wednesdays, June 20 and July 11, from 5 to 9 p.m. in all three precincts. The registration on Saturday, June 2 produced the following number of registrations: Center precinct, 78; North End, 3; and Springhill Lake, 95.

Council further agreed to a change in the city employees' retirement system that would provide a guaranteed retirement allowance equal to 1/55 of the average final salary for each year of creditable service instead of the present 1/60.

Student Transfer Policy

All students who are presently attending a school outside of their normal attendance area as a result of an approved transfer are required to renew their request by June 15. Otherwise, they will automatically be reassigned to the school in the attendance area nearest their residence.

Forms can be obtained in all county schools and must be completed and forwarded to the Director of Pupil Services, Prince Georges County Public Schools, Upper Marlboro, Maryland 20870.

Further information about the student transfer policy and procedures can be obtained from the guidance office at any county school or by calling the Board of Education's administrative offices in Upper Marlboro, telephone: 627-4800, extension 223.

Music at the Lake Park

The first performance of the annual Lake Park Summer Sounds series begins this Sunday, June 17, at 3 p.m. with the Greenbelt Concert Band. On Wednesday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m., the C & P Telephone Company Glee Club will provide the entertainment at the bandstand. The Lake Park Summer Sounds are free of charge as a part of the arts in Greenbelt, sponsored by the city's Recreation Department. Performances will include bands, choral groups, children's theater and light opera. A calendar of these events is posted at the Lake Park.

Listeners are invited to bring lawn chairs or a blanket and enjoy the Summer Sounds.

Festival Meets

by Larry Noel

The Labor Day Festival Weekend, Friday, August 31 to Monday, September 3, seems a long way off but planning for it goes on. A Festival meeting was held in the Library on Monday, June 11, principally to permit all organizations to sign up for the Carnival booths. A layout of the carnival area, description, location and purpose of the booths was given. It was suggested that the booths be decorated better with the possibility of an award to the best. Information on obtaining a booth can be obtained from Simon Pristoop, 474-6362.

Elected to membership on the Festival steering committee were Simon Pristoop, Carnival chairman and Dorothy Lauber, Treasurer. Volunteers and ideas are solicited for new events, activities or programs to make the Festival appealing to all. Contact Myra Burchik, 474-6587.

Greenbelt Lake Is Site of Drowning

A tragedy occurred in Greenbelt early Sunday morning when a young man, William Ralph Beers, 18, of Brentwood drowned in Greenbelt Lake.

Around 12:44 a.m. Beers left his four companions (a 19 yr. old man and a 16 yr. old boy from Chillum, a 15 yr. old girl from Chillum and a 16 yr. old girl from Hyattsville) near the dam end of the lake and started to swim towards some paddleboats which were anchored in the lake about 75 yds. from the dam. After he had gone about 60 yds., he disappeared. His companions heard no shout or call for help but did hear some struggling in the water. One of them called the rescue squad.

Responding to the call were Greenbelt police, Company 35 of the Greenbelt Rescue Squad, Prince Georges County Rescue Team 36 (scuba divers), and Maryland State Police Helicopter #1.

Police commandeered several boats chained near the shore, cutting them loose, and used them in the rescue operation. Searchlights were provided by the state police helicopter.

About 3 a.m. the scuba divers found Beer's body in 8 to 10 ft. of water in the northwest end of the lake. They took him to Prince Georges hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Shortly before the accident happened police had patrolled the area and had found that approximately 100 young people in their late teens and early twenties were in the park. Last September city council had considered an ordinance to put a curfew of 11 p.m. on the park. The ordinance was not adopted.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

The Greenbelt Bridge Club will resume its semi-monthly duplicate bridge games on Friday, June 22, at the Co-op Hospitality Room above the supermarket. Starting time is 8:30 p.m. The game is open to any individual. No reservations are needed. The director keeps himself available to play with anyone who lacks a partner. ## Greenbriar Sewage Discharge Query Bucked Back To Stearns

by Al Skolnik

The city council didn't want to talk about it, but it had to. The Greenbriar sewage treatment plant has been dissected, analyzed, scrutinized, and quartered on occasions too numerous to count.

But here it was back on council's Monday, June 11 agenda and, like Watergate, people could not refrain from discussing it.

What triggered the discussion was a request from county health officer Perry Stearns, stating that before he approved a point of discharge for the Greenbriar on-site temporary sewage plant he would like to have the comments of the city of Greenbelt as to whether this point of discharge meets the requirements and approval of the city.

Mayor Richard Pilski struggled valiantly and successfully to keep the discussion to an hour, but he had to do so by ruling councilwoman Rhea Cohen out of order. Mrs. Cohen saw the issue as not so much one of determining whether the sewage effluent would discharge into a free-flowing stream at the proposed point of discharge, but rather what the effluent would consist of. However, she got only as far as asking about the "nitrates" in the effluent when Pilski ruled that "we were not going back and rehashing all these old questions" which the experts had testified to on many occasions in the past. Pilski insisted that the discussion be confined to whether the point of discharge met the city's requirements.

Background

The situation facing council was this: On May 15, 1973, the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene had concurred with the opinion of the State Water Resources Administration that the unnamed tributary to the Beaver Dam Creek into which the Greenbriar sewage treatment plant will discharge is a free-flowing stream at the proposed point of discharge. The location of the point of discharge is the stream which flows under the exit ramps to Goddard Space Center from the north bound lane of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway just east of Parkway. This stream flows across the Parkway and meets with other streams on the west side of the Parkway and then flows north through parcel 1 and the Agricultural Research Center to Beaver Dam Creek.

The Prince Georges County Ten-Year Water and Sewer Plan had accepted the February 7, 1972 recommendation of the Greenbelt city council that the effluent be piped "to a point in the stream where there is a continuous year-round flow of water".

Stearns was now asking city council whether the proposed point of discharge met the city's criteria.

Council Uncomfortable

Council was obviously uncomfortable with the request. Several council members stressed that they did not have the expertise to determine whether the unnamed tributary was "free-flowing" at the point of discharge. While appreciating the fact that Dr. Stearns was trying to keep council informed, they also felt that he was burdening council with a decision which rightfully belonged to him. This was finally the position that the entire council agreed upon, but not until after a long discussion.

Several members of the audience were not impressed with the rulings of the State agency that the stream in question was free-flowing. Note was taken that the inspections were made during the rainy season, raising questions as to how the stream looks in the dry season. Suggestions were made that the city employ its own experts and hydrologists to evaluate the stream or ask Dr. Stearns, if he has doubts in his mind, to engage in such studies.

Despite the fact that nobody who spoke from the audience was ready to accept the findings of the State agencies, it was apparent that the majority of council was not ready to pick up the cudgels on this issue unless it first received clarification from Dr. Stearns as to his position. Earlier statements from Dr. Stearns were cited, expressing concern over failure to pipe to the northern boundary of the city of Greenbelt. Nobody, however, knew his present position. Council ended the discussion by directing the city manager to ask Stearns point-blank whether he agreed with the State's findings.

Glen Ora Tract

Council, however, was not finished with the matter of development east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. The next item on the agenda dealt with developer Alan Kay's proposal to construct condominium town houses for sale rather than garden apartments for rent on the Glen Ora tract. Town houses would be priced between $30,000 and $40,000, with only 870 units constructed as compared with the 1,172 apartments permitted under present R-30 zoning. The only hitch was that the Glen Ora project would have to be hooked into the Greenbriar temporary sewage treatment plans, potentially doubling its required capacity.

Council agreed that it was not timely to go ahead with the project at this time, though everyone expressed the view that condominiums would be preferable to apartments — primarily because they would make it easier for families to stay in Greenbelt and because they would reduce the density of the area.

Kay was asked to proceed with the planning of this project. Kay stated that he was not ready to move ahead at this time but that he did want to get some clue as to council's reaction to his proposal, indicating that he would not push the project if there were opposition.

A Prudent Budget

We wish to commend the city council for its statesmanlike consideration of the municipal budget for 1973-74. It is never easy for a council to raise taxes in an election year, but the majority of council did not shirk its responsibility. The new budget calls for a rise in the property tax rate from $0.92 to $0.97 per $100 assessed valuation — a percentage increase of about 5 percent.

The council faced several hard facts of life that no amount of wishful thinking could dispel:

(1) Revenues for fiscal 1973 fell short of estimates, leaving the city with no surplus, no cushion which would permit optimistic revenue estimates for fiscal 1974.

(2) City employees were entitled to a pay raise of at least 5 percent in light of spiraling prices. The salaries of police officers also needed a large upward adjustment of at least 8 percent to remain competitive with those paid in other local jurisdictions. (Prince Georges County had recently raised pay rates 10 percent.)

(3) The cost of vehicle maintenance, utilities, materials, and supplies has been rising at an annual rate of more than 5 percent.

(4) Because of the pending deficit for fiscal 1973, the city was unable to carry out its regular capital improvements budget, which included such items as resurfacing Ridge Road and Springhill Drive. In order to catch up, the fiscal 1974 budget needed to double the amount authorized but not expended in fiscal 1973.

Complicating council's consideration this year was the availability of Federal revenue-sharing funds. Because of the uncertainty regarding their future availability, council was reluctant to utilize these funds to reduce taxes and run the risk of making necessary substantial tax hikes in future years.

Instead council compromised by using about a third of the revenue-sharing funds for relieving the budget and the other two-thirds for helping to finance the construction of the Springhill Lake Recreation Center. By using revenue-sharing funds in this fashion, council thus released additional bond issue money for such high-priority items as purchase of parkland in parcels 1 and 15 — money that can be stretched to the fullest through matching Federal and State open-space grants. Revenue-sharing funds cannot be used to match Federal grants.

We believe that the majority of council acted in a prudent and responsible way in placing long-range fiscal soundness ahead of short-term political gains.

The Battles Continue

To the Editor:

As stories in this paper will undoubtedly show, the battles over Greenbriar continue in the city council. Glen Ora is newly come to the combat but the key question of the moment is sewage. The problem is where to release the treated sewage. I have my own ideas on that. What troubles me even more after last Monday's meeting is the way the mayor, Richard Pilski, continues to play the advocate for the developers, now to the point where both good sense, common courtesy and the good of Greenbelt are left behind. One of the citizens spoke well Monday night when he said he could see some truth on both sides; the two sides, he said, were (1) the citizens of Greenbelt and (2) the mayor.

Wants Explanation

To the Editor:

This is in regard to the News Review's statement that the ten percent increase effective as of March 2, 1973 for G.D.C. will be reduced to 6.3% and called inequitable by our Board of Directors. The increase was meant to cover a Suburban Trust Loan on G.D.C. for $44,763.70.

The total sum involved by the County's mandatory direction to paint and install fire extinguishers in 1971 amounted to the following:

Painting both buildings	$5,475.00
Installing fire extinguishers	900.00
Painting hallways, installing and painting doors and basements, etc.	1,015.00
Total	$7,390.00
Balance	$37,343.70

... The Board owes the members more detailed information as to the expenditure of the balance.

Incidentally, the total acreage of G.D.C., including the 52 garages, is 5.2703 acres.

Hard Edge of Reality

To the Editor:

Gordon Allen, in his letter of May 31, asks: "Let us see the hard edge of reality as well."

The door-to-door survey that is being conducted by the Citizens for a Better GHI has pointed out one aspect of this hard edge of reality that Gordon is asking for — and that is that the average frame home owner is already paying out a goodly sum just to live in GHI and is in no position to pay out any additional sums of money!

Another hard edge is contained in the Tax Appeal article that also appeared on May 31 when it states: "Greenbelt Homes, Inc. received some bad news from the county this week when it was informed that its appeal of a 47% increase in its 1972 tax assessment was denied by the county Board of Tax Appeals."

It seems that the case has been hanging fire since December 1971 — but GHI has not taken the action that would reduce our tax assessment! This is brought out in the article when it states: "But the Board of Tax Appeals said that since GHI had not provided a separate listing of such assets it was unable to take this factor into account."

The hard edge is that we are paying high taxes because our management has not properly listed our assets for tax purposes so we would be paying the correct amount according to the type of properties held!

Another hard edge is contained in the method of heating the homes. We are easily paying over $1 a day in excess heating costs. And, in one year's time, this amounts to $584,000!

So — what is this hard edge of reality that Gordon is talking about? It is simply this: We will have a situation where our homes will continue to deteriorate at an accelerated rate and be without funds to correct the situation as long as we continue to spend our assets unwisely!

Eunice Coxen and Hugh O'Donnell were instrumental in getting a very capable city planner to speak before us a few weeks ago — and it was unfortunate that he could not have spoken to ALL of us at that time.

At that meeting, we learned that the first step is to analyze the situation from a financial standpoint — which the Citizens for a Better GHI is looking into at present — and see what can be done. Once this is done, plans can be made to rehabilitate the area within the financial capabilities of the residents and their resources!

We can easily improve our GHI if we but make up our minds to quit squandering our resources and see that we have the proper management to direct our affairs.

We have a new — so to speak — board of directors! So let us tell that board we are dissatisfied with the incompetence that has existed and NOW is the time to put our house in order! Ben A. Hogensen

Another Land Rape?

To the Editor:

As usual, your reporter's review of the status on the Greenbriar apartment complex gives the same bland rosy-colored treatment to the story that would be appropriate for a Sunday School picnic.

To read the News Review you would hardly realize that extraordinary stupidity and bungling is at work in yet another case of a mindless and senseless rape of precious greenspace.

How absurd is it for county officials to utter concern about growth while they issue building permits for a project that has no sewer?

How utterly ridiculous is it for a State Health Department to issue warnings to a score of malfunctioning sewage treatment plants while they grant approval for yet another point of pollution?

How characteristically arrogant is it for the Greenbelt four, dominated by Charles Schwan to practically cede the city of Greenbelt to a private developer? The City and County Councils have provided the Greenbelt project with practically everything that it has asked for. Completely disregarding the following facts:

1. Over 1000 Greenbelt citizens petitioned against the sewage treatment plant;

2. The sewage treatment plant is contrary to adopted community goals;

3. There was and is substantial testimony that the location of this temporary sewage treatment plant represents a serious health and ecological hazard.

Because of the Schwan dominated Council, Greenbelters can now add Greenbriar to their list of denuded parcels that have been cruelly and spitefully stripped of their greenery long before any development shall take place on them. My children call the criminally eroded Parcel 15 "fossil field." I suggest the barren Greenbriar plot be called "Brown briar." Thomas X. White

City Proceeds with Plans To Renovate Center

City council is going ahead with the renovation of the Center Mall, regardless of the outcome of any litigation. This was made clear at the June 11 council meeting, when city manager James Giese announced that specifications for bids will be released shortly. Council had held a public hearing on June 5 regarding the funding of the project and then on June 11 adopted for final passage an ordinance which authorizes the issuing of bonds or certificates of indebtedness for the cost of the renovation, with the bonds to be paid back out of a levy against a special taxing district consisting of property within the commercial center.

The city contends that the property owners in the center will be benefiting from the renovation project. Among the owners to be assessed are the Greenbelt Consumer Services, the Medical Building, Greenbelt Realty, Mobil Gas Company, and William and Charles Cohen. Giese said that a 10-year loan would work out to an assessment of about $1.27 per $100 assessed valuation. The estimated cost of the improvement project is $60,000.

Property owners at the June 5 meeting disputed the contention that the renovation would be of benefit to them alone. Dr. Bill Weintraub of the Medical Building argued that the improvements in the Center Mall would accrue to the benefit of all the people in the community and should be supported as part of general taxes.

Weintraub was also concerned about the constant destruction at the Center and requested that the city develop methods of control before undertaking the renovation project.

Several city councilmen reminded Dr. Weintraub that the city had originally offered to share the cost of the renovation work 50-50. But instead the property owners took the case to court.

It appears that the new ordinance will also be the subject of litigation.

CITY NOTES

Greenbelt is experiencing the crunch of the gas shortage. The city was notified that the high-test gas, used mainly by the police cars, will be cut back. The city is studying alternatives to the situation. The new police cars can run on regular gas, and only three or four of the public works trucks need high test.

More chips were dumped at various locations around the city for pick up by residents who wish to use them.

The city's biggest paper collection took place last week when 19½ tons were collected. This may have occurred because no paper was collected the previous week.

The public works department resurfaced another section of Ridge Rd., 200 feet west from the entrance of 57 court.

The crew also repaired a small area in front of the middle gate of the tennis courts. This corrected an erosion problem.

The parks crew mowed grass and prepared the flower beds on Southway for annuals. They worked on the ballfields at Braden Field and the Little League field at Springhill Lake.

The burning inspector was on duty last week. No burning took place during the air pollution alert.

Cub Scout Pack 746

Kochina Indian Dancers from Explorer Post 70 of Bowie, were featured at the June meeting of Pack 746 held at Camp Conestoga recently.

The meeting opened at the picnic area with the induction of R. L. England as a Bobcat. This was followed by the graduation of Patrick McAndrew, Eric Weiner, John Lichvar Victor Boswell and Philip Hanyok into Troop 746 as holders of the Arrow of Light, highest award in Cub Scouting. They were received by Tim O'Keefe, representing the troop, and the Rev. Kenneth Buker as Unit Commissioner, who spoke a few words to the graduates.

Cubmaster Stephen Sinden announced the top salesmen of Expo tickets as being Frank Hinzman and Douglas Patton.

Badges earned since the last pack meeting are as follows: Two Webelos activity badges and the Arrow of Light to Eric Weiner, three Webelos activity badges and the Arrow of Light to Philip Hanyok, Scott Fitzreiter, John Lichvar, Patrick McAndrew and Sudi Dwi-vedi; four Webelos activity badges and the Arrow of Light to Victor Boswell while John Brown earned one Webelos activity badge and Chris Collins earned two.

Lynn England, Christopher Hunt, and Scott Anderson earned the Wolf and Bear badges.

Sinden presented a gift to Mrs. Ann Boswell, who is retiring as Awards Chairman. Mrs. Virginia Hunt of Den 6 received one of the nine Merit Awards given in the Pautuxent District.

The pack then moved to the Council Fire where the Explorer Post presented a program of Indian dances in ceremonial costumes.

At the conclusion of the dances, Sinden presented an Expo Cup to Assistant Cubmaster Barry Petroff in appreciation of his many contributions to the pack.

After refreshments, the cubs were able to purchase Indian souvenirs from the dance team.

Juvenile Judge Speaks To Greenbelt CARES

Teenagers and parents of teenagers are especially invited to the monthly meeting of Greenbelt CARES to be held Tuesday, June 19 at 8 p.m. at the Youth Center.

Juvenile Court Judge Robert H. Mason will be at the meeting to tell about his work in Juvenile Court, the greatest needs of the Juvenile Court, and the greatest unmet needs of children, as he sees them. There will be time for questions and discussion.

The Juvenile Court is located in Upper Marlboro. It meets daily and keeps two judges busy.

Major work of the Juvenile Court involves "delinquents"—children charged with what could be a crime if committed by adults — and "children in need of supervision" — children charged with truancy, ungovernableness or disobedience of a law pertaining only to juveniles, such as the county anti-loitering ordinance.

Some of the meeting time will be devoted to discussing a report on our Youth Service Bureau, the new undertaking of Greenbelt CARES, Behavior Service Consultants, and the City of Greenbelt. There will also be preliminary consideration of by-laws.

GHI Ratifies Twin Pines Agreement

by Bob McGee

A special meeting of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors was held Tuesday evening, June 5, to ratify a proposed agreement with Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association. The agreement, which had been hammered out at a previous meeting of the officers and attorneys of both organizations, provided that in event of a default by a GHI unit owner under a Twin Pines loan—and in the event that GHI fails to obtain a purchaser—GHI would either accept into membership any contract purchaser nominated by Twin Pines, or, if not acceptable to GHI, would actually purchase the book value of the investment of Twin Pines.

Such action by GHI presumably would make Twin Pines' paper more negotiable, thus clearing a major roadblock in the way of Twin Pines becoming certified by the State and becoming a participant in the Maryland Savings Share Insurance Corporation (MSSIC). By GHI's agreeing to qualify its right of approval of membership, it makes it easier for a successor of Twin Pines, whether it be MSSIC or any other assignee, to take over in the event of Twin Pines being in default.

As a reason for wishing to thus assist Twin Pines, GHI, according to the preamble to the agreement, desired to have Twin Pines in a position to continue promoting home ownership as being in the best interests of both GHI and the Greenbelt community. It was pointed out that Twin Pines has provided financing, since 1957, to purchasers of leasehold interests in the GHI cooperative units and has probably been the single most important contributor to the promotion of home ownership in the Greenbelt cooperative.

In an effort to assure himself that the individual homeowner's interest would be protected, board member Ted Byerly posed a number of questions based on several hypothetical situations. William Johnston sought equal assurances that GHI would be protected in the event that a sizable quantity of Twin Pines' paper was assigned to another lending institution. Byerly also urged that, in fairness, the same terms of the agreement should apply not only to Twin Pines but any lender. President James Smith and other members of the board verbally agreed that this was the intent.

In moving for adoption of the agreement, board member Thomas White urged that it be amended to apply only to those loans which had been made "for the purpose of securing a mutual ownership contract." White argued persuasively that it was not in the interests of GHI to back loans made by Twin Pines "for the purchase of a boat, for example, or a down payment on a lot at Ocean Pines." Despite an argument by Tony McCarthy, a law student and a member of the GHI audit committee, that the agreement probably need not be amended to meet White's objection, the board unanimously voted, 7 to 0, to ratify the agreement with the amendment. Only board members Brooks and Lynch, who were absent, did not participate in the action.

Prior to adjourning, it was ascertained by telephone that White's amendment to the agreement would be acceptable to the Twin Pines' board of directors, who were meeting concurrently on the same matter.

Bridge over troubled waters.

It's easy to forget that emergencies do happen. And when there is a crisis, you'll need a nest egg to fall back on.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one of the easiest ways to make sure you've something saved for when you need money fast. When you participate in the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside from each paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's an effortless way to build up a reserve.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Let's hope there are no troubled waters in your future. But remember, emergencies don't always happen to the other guys.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Officials Observe Beltsville Sludge Composting Process

Less than six months after the County Council approved a five-acre plot in Beltsville as an experimental sludge composting site for wastes from the Blue Plains treatment plant, government officials were back on the scene to inspect the operation.

County Executive William W. Gullett, along with representatives of the Maryland Environmental Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was on the federal property June 8 to observe part of the process now converting about 100 tons of sludge per day from a potential environment hazard to a top notch soil conditioner with a variety of uses.

Actual project operation has been going on for nearly two months. Use of the land was approved Dec. 22 by the Prince George's County Council meeting in emergency session in Upper Marlboro. The action prevented Blue Plains officials from dumping the solid wastes into the Potomac River.

At the same time, Gullett and County Council Chairman John J. Garrity signed a strongly-worded joint letter to Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel indicating that Prince Georges would agree to the plan only if a similar site is chosen in Montgomery County within six months and that transport of the sludge from the sewage plant to Beltsville would be over routes away from residential areas and traffic-laden roads and handled in a manner approved by local health officials.

Following a more than one-hour tour of the project, Gullett told reporters he was satisfied that MES and federal officials were operating the experiment on an ecologically-sound basis.

State officials told the County Executive they expect the Beltsville site to handle about 250 tons of waste per day when the plan is fully operational. Under last winter's agreement, Prince Georges will accept about 40 percent of Blue Plains' sludge with the yet-to-be chosen location in Montgomery to take the remainder.

The sludge is transported to Beltsville in sealed tank trucks adapted from concrete mixing vehicles. At the plant, it is placed in windrows and mixed with wood chips to speed up and deodorize the composting process. What occurs, according to Agriculture Department scientists, is a microbiological breakdown of the sludge which kills off any disease bearing organisms in the material. The mixture is aerated manually for about 14 days, stockpiled for another month and then screened, removing the wood chips and leaving only the soil conditioner.

The conditioner, scientists say, can be used to improve the soil on highway median strips and government forest lands and, perhaps most importantly, to revitalize lands stripped for sand and gravel mining, subdivision development and similar land use.

The Police Blotter

Officer Paul C. Duprat is the newest addition to the Greenbelt police force. Officer Duprat graduated from the Maryland Police Training Commission's basic level law enforcement course on May 25 and assumed his duties on May 27.

Two officers have attended the new state supervisor's training course at the U.S. Army Reserve Training Center in Rockville, Cpl. Coombes and Sgt. Van Valkenburgh. Sgt. Krob helped to develop the curriculum for this new supervisor's school and taught some of the classes. Even before the state law was passed last June that required police officers to attend supervisor training school within one year of promotion Greenbelt had regularly sent its officers to school.

Police have closed two house breaking cases from last March. A young male adult resident was arrested in connection with a case on Lakeside Drive. A young adult female non-resident was arrested in connection with another Lakeside robbery. The two cases were not connected.

Five more housebreaking cases have been reported in the city. They were in different parts of town. Cash and foreign coins were taken. One robbery was the result of a ladder being left outside a house with an upstairs window left open. Thieves entered from the second floor. The house was near the woods and no one noticed the forced entry. Another robbery occurred when the door was left unlocked.

Police advise people to lock houses and windows when leaving. Most of the robberies have been during the day or early evening when people are not at home.

A woman had a pocketbook snatched by a male juvenile at the rear of the 2 court of Gardenway. A lookout has been posted.

The GHI boat and trailer yard was broken into recently. Entry was made by crawling under the fence and several trailers were entered and an attempt was made to enter several others. Contents of trailers were scattered and some were damaged by the forced entries. Tape stereo equipment was taken out of one.

The Springhill Lake boat and trailer yard was also entered, and a canoe was taken.

Also in Springhill Lake the Town and Country Nursery School had $165 taken from the office while the school was open.

A car stolen from Springhill Lake was recovered the next day in Hyattsville as the result of a lookout.

An indecent exposure case was reported taking place on the parking lot near the Drug Fair at the Beltway Plaza. Police are checking on the out-of-state license tag number of the man's car.

A theft of $99.50 was made from Sumi's store while the store was open. Entry was made through the rear door and a cash box was taken.

Several runaway boys and girls are being sought. Lookouts have been posted.

Vandalism to an automobile on Southway resulted in all four tires being slashed with a knife. Investigation is continuing.

A tire and a sewing machine were taken from a chicken-wire enclosed storage locker in a Springhill Lake apartment. The door had not been forced. Police advised people to mark their appliances, bicycles, etc. with Social Security numbers or keep a record of their serial numbers. Police also ask that bicycles be brought into the station to be registered. This registration is now free. People are also asked to check with police after bicycles have been reported stolen.

Environmental News

by Gabe Huck

I have another book to recommend this week, one that should just be reaching the shelves. It's THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS ALMANAC: A GUIDE THROUGH THE SEASONS. In these days of paper shortages and out-of-sight priced books it is the year's bargain, a 364-page Bantam paperback for $1.95.

The book is based on the Mother Earth News, a magazine that has reached 100,000 circulation in three years. (I consider my copy of Volume 1, Number 1, one of my prized possessions.) Like the magazine the book is a guide to saving time, money—and the environment. It is well written (scores of short articles), carefully illustrated, and like any good almanac, full of advice, statistics and tables.

There are four seasonal sections: "Spring: A Time of Awakening;" "Summer: The Time of Growth;" "Autumn: The Time of Maturing;" "Winter: The Time of Rest." A final section on charts and tables gives "Convert Almost Anything to Almost Anything," "Vegetable Origins," "Planting Table for Family Garden," "Last Frost," "Mail Order Sources of Books," and much more.

A random sampling of articles: "A Child's Shoe," "Protect Plants from Cutworms," "Wild Foods in the City," "Old Bedstead Makes Bike Rack," "Homemade Ice Cream," "Cosmetics from the Kitchen," "Mosquitoes and the Color Blue," "A New Idea for Bathtubs," "How to Make Coffee from the Bean Up," "Polish Your Shoes with a Lemon," "Fried Mush." Beyond the practical and the wild is the simple vision of the book: we need the seasons, to be really in touch with them, and we need time with simple things.

Lecture on Car Repairs
Pat Goss, of Pat's Gulf and Diagnostic Service Center of Riverdale, will speak at the Mishkan Torah, Ridge and Westway Roads, on Sunday, June 17, at 8:30 p.m. His topic will be "What Consumers Should Know About Car Repairs." The community is invited.

GHI First-Quarter Fiscal Report Shows Improvement

by Al Skolnik

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. operations were somewhat better than anticipated for the first quarter of 1973, according to a report put out by GHI comptroller Don McGinn. Income was up some $7,500 and expenditures down $2,600 over the budgeted amounts, leaving the corporation better off by $10,100.

Although overall expenditures were close to the budgeted amounts, individual items did show variances. Because of reduced consumption from a relatively warm winter, fuel oil costs were below expectations by $6,100 in the brick homes and $10,700 in the frame homes. However, the savings were largely taken up by additional contract work required by the building code to modernize the boilers.

Maintenance costs for the frame homes were up by $3,300, primarily due to an early start in the trim paint program; the brick homes will follow later. Other items which showed differences from the budget were administrative costs (down $1,400), grounds maintenance (down $3,000), and trash disposal costs (up $2,500).

The increase on the income side was due mainly to revenues received from the sale of services to members and GDC and to fees from home sales.
